Race the Atlantic Wind by Oisín McGann – 30 copies, 269 pages

In the spring of 1919, after the end of the First World War, teams of pilots and navigators begin to gather on the North American island of Newfoundland. They are attempting what many believe to be impossible - to fly non-stop across the Atlantic Ocean. Equipped with machines made mostly from wood, fabric and wire, they intend to fly the 1,800 miles to Ireland, in the face of the merciless North Atlantic weather. John Alcock and Arthur Whitten Brown are late to arrive. Competing against some of Europe's most famous pilots, these two British war veterans are considered rank outsiders. Maggie McRory is a sixteen-year-old girl who sees the gathering of all these aircraft and their crews as a chance to escape her narrow existence. Her war-scarred uncle, however, views them as a threat to the island and his way of life. This absurdly dangerous contest is going to change the world!

Time Travelling with a Hamster by Ross Welford - 28 copies, 391 pages

Al Chaudhury has a chance to save his dad's life, but to do it he must travel to 1984. He discovers his late dad's time machine and finds that going back to the 1980s requires daring and imagination. It also requires lies, theft, burglary, and setting his school on fire. He also doesn't want to lose his pet hamster, Alan Shearer...

The Guns of Easter by Gerard Whelan - 47 copies, 167 pages

It is 1916 and Europe is at war. From the poverty of the Dublin slums twelve-year-old Jimmy Conway sees it all as glorious. He loves the British Army for which his father is fighting. But when war comes to his own streets Jimmy's loyalties are divided. The rebels occupy the General Post Office and other parts of the city, and Jimmy's uncle is among them. Dublin's streets are destroyed, business comes to a halt. In an attempt to find food for his family, Jimmy crosses the city, avoiding the shooting, weaving through the army patrols, hoping to make it home before curfew. But his quest is not easy and danger threatens at every corner.

War Children by Gerard Whelan - 34 copies, 191 pages

Six stories set in Dublin and in the countryside - about children who get caught up in the War of Independence and suffer dire consequences. Mattie Foley dreams of escaping the harshness of life in the Dublin slums, but her dreams and reality become dangerously entwined with the discovery of a gun. When Statia Mulligan sets off to get feed for the hens, she longs for the peace and quiet of her favourite spot by the stream; she doesn't expect to become part of an ambush. Larry Quinn goes after the cow that has strayed - how could he know that in his absence the Black and Tans would force his mother to reveal all she knows?

A Winter of Spies by Gerard Whelan – 28 copies, 191 pages

Sequel to "The Guns of Easter". This book tells the exciting story of Sarah (Jimmy's young sister) and their family who are involved in the spying activities of Michael Collins during the War of Independence. Sarah, a young eleven-year-old, cannot figure out why her family is so neutral towards the war and why everybody is so secretive. A strong rebel herself, she wants to do her bit for Ireland. Then she finds out the terrible truth and she too carries secrets, which could cost her life.

Wolf Hollow by Lauren Wolk - 26 copies, 292 pages

Annabelle has lived in Wolf Hollow all her life. It is a quiet place, still scarred by two world wars. But when cruel, manipulative Betty arrives into town, Annabelle's calm world is shattered, along with everything she has ever known about right and wrong. When Betty disappears, suspicion falls on gentle loner Toby. As Wolf Hollow turns against him and tensions quickly mount, Annabelle must do everything in her power to protect Toby and find Betty, before it's too late.

Senior non-fiction (4th - 6th class level)
